What's your decision?

Last week's Question Answered:

A player with ball in hand touches the cue ball with the tip of his cue as he positions the ball. What is the penalty?
 No penalty. If the referee considers the player is not attempting to play a stroke, even though the tip of the cue touches the cue ball, the ball is not in play.

Section 3, rule 5(b)

This week's Question

If a red ball and the brown ball are touching and a striker shooting at the red ball strikes both balls simultaneously, is there a penalty and if so, what?
